Dear Sir / Madam,

Announcement: Email Address change from @nxp.com to @ssmc.com
Complete migration by 1st November 08

We would like to inform you that SSMC is migrating from Lotus Note to Outlook Exchange for better IT support efficiency and to achieve a more optimum infrastructure to service our customer. Along with the mail client migration, our domain name will be changed. SSMC's email address will also change from @nxp.com to @ssmc.com.

To our valued customers, this milestone will have no impact to SSMC's business by way of working, confidentiality and security policies. As before, SSMC remains as a joint venture of NXP and TSMC.

As our valued customer, you will continue to experience the professionalism, integrity and business excellence of SSMC supported with the same level of secured IT infrastructure/ Information Security Management System and the interaction with customers with the same confidentiality.

The implementation will start in phases. To ensure smooth transition, all communication @nxp.com will automatically be diverted to the new address until 31 October 2008. Upon 1 November, we will cut over completely to the new mail address.

We thank you for your continued support. For additional queries, please contact:
